FACULTY OF ARTS AND SCIENCE CHANGE OF COURSE SECOND TERM

The change of course period for the second term will extend from January 11 to January 21 (noon). During this period students in the Faculty of Arts and Science may change their registration in second term courses only, so that they may drop a second term course for which they registered originally and replace it by another second term course.

In order to be properly registered the student must effect this change by completing the official change of course form available in the assistant dean's office. These forms (three in number) must be completed and turned in by the student who should call back in three days to receive his copy which will be signed if the change is approved. Merely turning in the forms does not constitute authority for the change and it is the student's responsibility to ascertain that the change has been approved.

Positively no changes will be considered after this deadline date of January 21.

Office of the Assistant Dean

cutive Council on December 14, 1955, voted to grant the sum of $5000. — to the Montreal Transportation Commission for property damages allegedly committed by the members of the Students' Society of McGill University during the recent "Tramway riots", and

WHEREAS, the Students of McGill University feel that they should not accept collective responsibility for damages in a riot in which only a small minority of the students participated, in which the large majority of the participants from this institution behaved themselves in an orderly manner and did not commit any willful damage, which developed into wanton destruction only after the members separated themselves from the demonstrations and these demonstrations were taken over by other groups and persons as an excuse to commit willful damage to public property, and the Montreal Police Department did not feel itself capable of protecting the vehicles of the Montreal Transportation Commission until after a full-scale riot had developed, and

WHEREAS, instead of granting money for damages, the Students' Executive Council should at least attempt to make its voice heard in the clamour against the raise of fares by the Montreal Transportation Commission,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Students' Executive Council did not act in the best interests of the members of the Students' Society in accepting responsibility for these demonstrations and offering to pay for a portion of the damages.

Carnival To Feature Improved Forum Night

This year's Winter Carnival, which will be held February 16 to 19, will have an improved Forum Night as part of a general attempt to improve calibre, officials announced yesterday.

After a hockey game there will be a skating show, cut to an hour's length, complete with a chorus line. The crowning of the Carnival Queen will be the climax of the evening. It is hoped that a prominent United States figure or a well-known hockey player will crown her.

The carnival will start Thursday with the usual Torchlight parade along Pine Avenue to Remembrance Road, to an Ice Castle which is 200 feet long, 20 feet high, and weighs 120 tons, built on the edge of Beaver Lake. Principal F. Cyril James and Mayor Jean Drapeau will be among the dignitaries at the opening ceremonies. A skating review, ski exhibition, tug of war and snowshoe races will be followed by a dance at the Chalet, complete with fireworks.

Candidates for Queen will be present at all events connected with the carnival.

Buses will transport students to Mont Gabriel, Friday morning to watch the ski competition or to take part in winter sports, and will bring them back late in the afternoon. The University of Toronto, Laval, and Bishops are expected to join McGill in the meet. Since the competition is for the Canadian Intercollegiate Skiing Championship, a closed title, there will be no teams from American colleges this year.

U.S. Colleges Participate

Also in the afternoon, a debate will take place in the Union Ballroom between McGill and teams from other universities. The Carnegie Institute of Technology, the University of Pittsburgh, John Hopkins, Mount Allison, and Loyola are expected to participate. Forum night will be held that evening.

The last day of the carnival will feature a revue in the afternoon with two shows in Moyse hall. Among other groups, Smith's Flora Doras and some Vassar girls will stage their acts.

BROTT TO CONDUCT RECITAL TONIGHT

Alexander Brott will conduct the McGill Chamber Ensemble in a concert tonight at 8:45 pm, in Moyse Hall. This concert is made possible by a grant from the trust funds of the Recording Industry in co-operation with Local 406 of the American Federation of Musicians and the McGill Conservatorium of Music.

The programme will consist of four works: Geminiani's "Concerto Grosso in C minor", Mozart's "Serenade No. 6 in D", "Cradle Song" by Brott and "Divertissement", by Jacques Ibert.

Performing the Concerto Grosso

will be Arthur Garami, Mildred Goodman, Otto Joachim, Natalie Claire, and Louis Charbonneau. Helmut Blume, noted pianist, will be soloist for Divertissement, accompanied by an ensemble of flute, trombone, clarinet, percussion, bassoon, trumpet, strings and horn.

World Problems On Model Agenda

Control of the arms race in the Middle East, the admission of Red China, self determination for Cyprus, and a Soviet resolution on disarmament will be the main items on the agenda of the United Nations Club's Model Security Council.

This event will be held on January 19 and 20 in the Redpath Museum amphitheatre. Mr. Rene Pouliot, technical advisor to the International Civil Aviation Organization, will preside over the plenary sessions, to be held from 8-11 pm both days.

Players Club Sponsors Springford Instruction

The second of this year's acting lessons will be given this evening at 8 pm sharp in the Walter Stewart Room of the McGill Union. The lessons are sponsored by the Players Club, and the instructress is Mrs. Norma Springford.

Tonight, the Club announced, there will be a special class in make-up technique which should be of invaluable help to everyone with any interest in the stage.

The Club will provide the make-up, but it requests everyone to bring an adequately sized mirror, and also an old towel to keep themselves clean.

Lessons Free

It is stressed that everyone is entitled and welcome to attend the Players Club's acting lessons, which take place every Tuesday and Thursday at 8 pm. They are free of charge, and are so presented that each one can be understood independently.

On Wednesday there will be a casting of the play to be entered into the Inter-Varsity Drama League Festival by the Players Club. The time and place of this casting will be announced tomorrow in Coming Events.

David Berlin, producer of McGill's festival entry, stated that "We've got a good chance of coming near the top of the entries if we can get an enthusiastic cast."

Orlinsky To Lead Hillel Seminar

The Seminar will take place at Hillel House, 3460 Stanley St., on Friday, January 20 from 12 to 2 pm and on Saturday, January 21 from 3 to 7 pm. Two sessions will take place on Saturday.

The topics of the three sessions are in order "The Bible as History and the Role of Archaeology", "The Bible as a Religious Document" and "The Prophets as a Social Phenomenon".

The Seminar is open to all students. To register, either go to Hillel House or telephone HA. 9171. Payment of a $1.25 fee will allow luncheon on Friday and buffet tea on Saturday.

STUDENT DISCIPLINE

In recent weeks men students have entered the Royal Victoria College without permission, have created a disturbance, and have refused to leave when requested to do so by the College staff.

The student body as a whole is warned that the University will regard any further instance of this kind as a serious offense, and that any students involved will be immediately suspended, pending the ultimate judgement of Senate.

IN THE DARK

The current fuss concerning the "donations" of $5,000 to the MTC has to a certain extent made the student body dissatisfied with the SEC. The principle of the Council's assuming executive control is certainly a valid one. How else can the mechanics of government be performed? In this case the executive body has not acted in accordance with the wishes of the students whom they represent.

In such a case as this the student body would undoubtedly wish to have more control over the actions of their executive. In the past the student body has actually, if not intentionally, been kept in the dark regarding the contemplated decisions of their executive. In point of fact, the executive has not felt it necessary or desirable to keep the student body informed of their proposed actions. It is unlikely that one open meeting a session will keep the students suitably informed.

It is safe to assume that the student body has been very interested in the question of sending money to the MTC. They have expressed this interest by petitioning for a Students' Society meeting. There is a great deal of talk of moving to regain the $5,000. We question whether this is feasible or politic.

The Students' Executive Council did their duty as they saw it. Constitutionally and morally, we feel, they were well within their rights. However, the SEC appears to have become too isolated from the student body. Again we feel the inclusion of a parliamentary gallery at meetings would remedy this and place the Council in closer touch with their electors.

The SEC tends too much to ignore the views of the students whom they represent.

DEMORALIZING INFLUENCE

There is an insidious plot afoot among the female population of McGill. In the grill room, on the Union stairs, in lectures, at meetings, everywhere and anywhere, the men of McGill are knitted at. Oddly shaped garments dangle from knitting needles plied industriously by chattering women. All manner and shape of little woolly things are born from out of the wombs of a vast and variegated assortment of handbags and holders.

The obvious aim of this incessant, omnipresent activity is to impress the mere male with the stamp of domesticity, the indication of female prowess. As the tiny things they knit for other peoples' children take gradual shape before their boy-friends' eyes, the girls sighingly hope that they will sufficiently arouse the domestic side dormant in every male, render him starry-eyed, numb, and ready for the altar.

The other things they knit, unfortunately, give the men second thoughts, and any woman who gives a man a chance for a second thought has not yet mastered all the arts of feminine subtlety. Woolen stockings by the score are finished every day, and McGill again asserts its individuality by demonstrating that there is at least one place in the world where women sacrifice vanity for comfort. Too many a delightfully turned ankle, too many a trim leg is hidden, winter long, beneath a half inch thick wool stocking.

All in all this constant knitting and undermining of the male McGill morale is to be deplored. Only one thing can be said in its favour. It gives the girls something to think about while they are talking.

President's Message

$5000 — AN EXPLANATION

A decision of the Students' Executive Council has met with some disfavour. The decision, by its nature, would necessarily involve the wrath of its opponents. Some of the strong feeling which exists is due to the lack of a comprehensive statement of the reasoning behind the decision.

McGill University and its students form an inseparable whole. We are particularly dependent upon the public for our existence. Students' fees, though certainly high enough, do not begin to cover the necessary expenditures of the University. The gap must be filled by donations from private sources.

It is a corollary of the aid received by McGill that a duty of responsibility is owed by the University to the public. This does not mean that the University must sway with every gust of public opinion. It does mean that the University must act in such a way as to feel that it is at all times worthy of the support which it seeks.

To ask for a New Union and Scholarships, and yet not feel a duty to act in such a way as to be able to stand up and tell the public that our welfare is that of the community, is to act in bad faith. Our welfare will not be the welfare of the community if we are among those who refuse to accept responsibility for our actions and attempt to blame others, who may be equally at fault, when we ourselves are not guiltless.

To say that hoodlums, and not students, were responsible for the damage caused on December 9th is to express a half-truth in an effort to appear guiltless. There is ample evidence that students caused considerable, though not the major, damage. It is also extremely difficult to convince one's conscience that students need not accept any responsibility for the fact that they provided an opportunity, a sine qua non, for others to cause damage. In short, to deny responsibility under the circumstances is to shirk responsibility, to evade it rather than avoid it. Surely the "Montreal Star" and the "Gazette" in their editorials did not exonerate students. On the contrary, they attached considerable responsibility and blame.

Estimates of the number of McGill students involved run as high as one thousand. Very few are below five hundred. Many student activities on campus are not so well attended. These students, though demonstrating unofficially, did not march as individual residents of Montreal, but as a McGill contingent.

The Students' Executive Council must answer to the public for the actions of McGill students who act as such. To have remained silent in the present instance would have been to decline a jurisdiction and deny an obligation which clearly existed.

Justice must not only be done; it must also appear to be done. Expressions of regret must not only be sincere, they must also appear to be sincere. The "Montreal Star", which in an editorial on Saturday, December 24th, described the action of the Students' Executive Council as a "very creditable", "proper", and "dignified" expression of regret, makes this point when it states: "The self-imposed fine testifies to the sincerity of the gesture". The reaction of many people in the business and professional world has been equally favourable.

It is hoped that the Students' Executive Council has by its action recognized a legitimate duty owed to the public, and its patrons, and has shown that the student body is sufficiently mature and responsible to accept the consequences, albeit unwanted, of their actions.

Avrum Cohen,
President, Students' Society.

Sir:

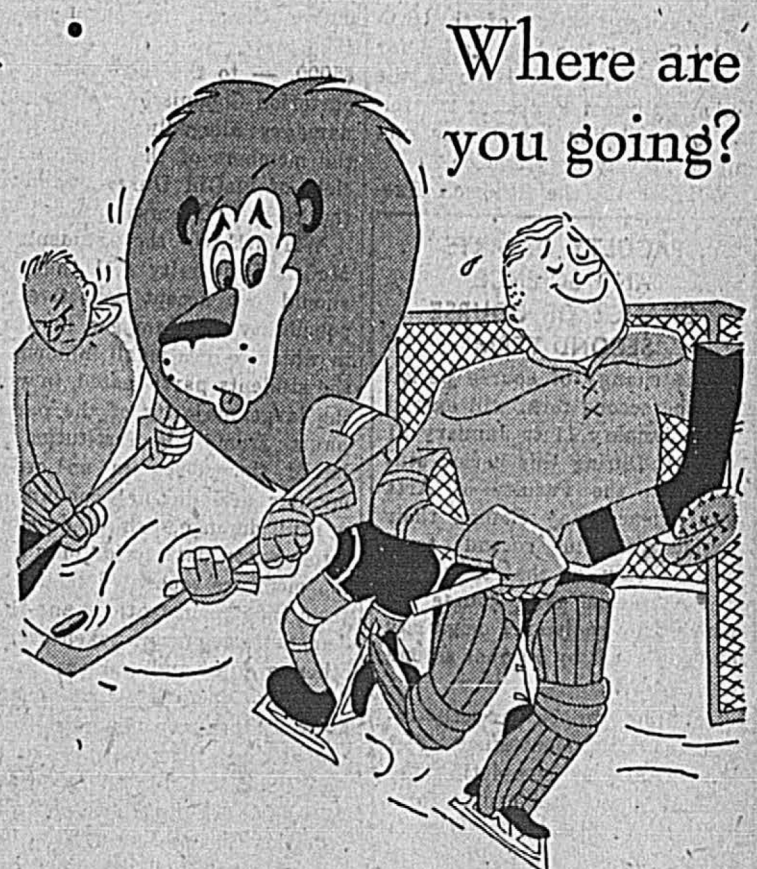

In the last edition of the regular daily, Thursday December 8, 1955, in the front page there was an article by Mr. John Simbury namely the "Carpet Unrolled in Moyse Hall". I read it and was extremely surprised that there was no mention of the Spanish Club, a Club that had an active part in the Flying Carpet.

I feel that the Spanish Club deserved at least a recognition from Mr. Simbury who, because he is not interested or thought that it was not worth mentioning, left out only the Spanish Club from his article...

Having seen the Flying Carpet I would like to say something for the Spanish Group, who tried and worked very hard and gave a wonderful show. I must say it was one of the best: full of life and color.

The Spanish Club was mentioned in Mr. Simbury's original review. The copy had to be cut at the last minute by the printer because of its length. The Spanish Club, unfortunately, was mentioned in the last paragraphs which were the ones omitted. —Ed.

Varsity Defeats Redmen 7-3 Laval Follows With 6-2 Win

by Irwin Sankoff

Toronto's Varsity Blues played the role of spoilers last Friday night as they dumped the McGill Redmen 7-3 in the local Intercollegiate hockey opener. Then the Redmen took it on the chin for the second time in three days as they bowed 6-2 to Laval on Sunday in Quebec City. The Redmen's last weekend pushed the locals farther into the league cellar with an 0 and 4 record.

In the other weekend game Varsity walloped U of M 6-3 in a dull game. Varsity and Laval share first place and seem to be the only teams left in the race for the league championship. This probably means another wait till next year for the Redmen who won their last title in 1946, but don't feel too bad boys. Chicago hasn't won a Stanley Cup since 1937-38.

Placed by speedy right winger Ken Linesmen, who scored three goals and assisted on another, the Blues riddled McGill goaler Dinty O'Shaughnessy for two goals in the first two cantos and three in the final period. O'Shaughnessy, who toiled for the junior Canadiens same years back, played well in the nets despite the score.

Pete Constable, Gordie Currie and Dickie Baltzan blinked the red light for the Redmen cause. Constable also tallied against Laval with Brian McCann picking up the other Redmen marker. Bob Lafreniere led the "Rouge et Or" with a pair of goals and an assist.

Friday the Blues took a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Linesmen and Sandy Morrison. Constable cut the lead to 2-1 in the second period when he took the puck end to end and fired a sizzling 20-footer past Cecutti. Seventeen seconds later Linesmen picked the bottom corner with a low drive, and Morrison's second tally put the Blues ahead 4-1.

The Redmen stormed back in the final canto and did everything but put the puck in the net. Linesmen completed his hat trick when he broke away with Akitt and Cossar to score the fifth Toronto goal. Currie converted a Constable pass-out for the second Redmen marker, but Akitt got that one back two minutes later.

Baltzan fired the Redmen's final counter after taking Constable's pass, but 25 seconds later Brian Anderson combined with John MacDonald to close out the scoring for the night and give Varsity the 7-3 win.

SHARPE SHOOTERS TROUNCE KNIGHTS

McGill Intermediates moved into second place in the Montreal Senior "B" Basketball League Saturday, with a 56-34 victory over the Golden Knights.

The Inters now have a three victories and one lost, record in league play, in addition to their three exhibition wins earlier in the season. This was the second triumph for the Indians over the Golden Knights.

The Inters had little trouble in their win and were never behind. The half-time score was 25-18. Coach Ron Sharp used two lines to tire out his opponents and run up thirty-one points in the second half. High scorers for McGill were Jim Leary with 11 points and Morty Cohen with 10. Phil Dezwirek, Jim Glass, and Lee Solomon contributed 7, 6, and 5 points respectively. Shad was high man for the Golden Knights with 12 points.

The Inters play tomorrow at Westhill against the Georgians and again on Saturday, preceding the Senior contest.

WESTERN HOOPSTERS DOWN REDMEN 63-48

by Don Bell

Two Goliath-like Western ball-players pumped in more points than the entire McGill crew Saturday night to lead the Mustangs to a 63-48 romp over the Redmen at the Currie gym.

Chris Ellis, a 6'3" dead-eyed forward, swished 25 points through the mesh while teammate Ray Monnott, a 6'6" centre, dumped in 24. Monnott, who averaged 20 points per game in pre season exhibitions against highly rated American colleges, also held the Redmen's ace, Leon Duplessis, in check and had complete control of both backboards.

Coach Joe Anderson's Redmen, however, put up a good battle. In the second quarter they managed to tie the game at 21-21. Western then popped in 8 points to take the lead at the half. In the third quarter, the Mustangs took advantage of their experience and forged into a 20 point lead. The Red and White squad, sparked by Don Wright, fought bitterly in the fourth quarter and matched the Mustangs basket for basket. The game ended with Western only 15 points up.

Don Wright was the star of the McGill five. The former Montreal High and YMHA sharp shooter, besides collecting 21 points, slowed down the Mustangs' attack with his bang-up defensive play. Ozzie Zommers with 11 points also shone for the Redmen.

Most of the spectators at the game were surprised that the inexperienced Redmen stayed within 15 points of the Mustangs. The Western aggregation, looking for their eleventh consecutive intercollegiate championship, just rolled through a seven game exhibition series against some top notch American competition. They won three of their games and conquered their archrivals, Bowling Green University.
